Type of data and purpose of the processing

Navigation data

During their normal operation, the information systems and software programmes of our website collect some personal data, whose communication is implied in the use of the communication protocols of the Internet. These data are not collected to be associated with specific users. However, their processing and their association with third parties' data might permit the identification of users. This category of data includes the IP addresses or the domain names of the computers used by users logging onto websites, the URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) notation addresses of the queried resources, the time of the query, the method used to submit the query to the server, the size of the file obtained in response thereto, the numerical code indicating the status of the response given by the server and other parameters of the user's operating system and information environment. These data are used with the sole purpose of receiving anonymous statistical data on the use of the website and to check its proper operation and are immediately cancelled after processing. These data might be used to identify possible crimes or frauds perpetrated through this website. Apart from this assumption, the data on web contacts are not stored for more than seven days.

Purpose of the processing

The personal data of users entering a service order are used for the sole purpose of carrying out the service and are not disclosed to third parties, unless such disclosure is mandated by law or strictly necessary to meet their requirements.

The specific purposes of the processing are indicated in detail in our service offerings.

For each offered service, the user will find specific data privacy statements under art. 13 of Legislative 196/2003, which are based on our Privacy Policy. In formulating their queries, we invite users not to indicate names or personal data of third parties that are not strictly necessary and thus to use imaginary names.

Data voluntarily provided by the user

The sending of voluntary and explicit e-mails to the addresses specified on our website implies the acquisition of the sender's address, which will be used to respond to his/her e-mails, as well as of any other personal data reported in the same e-mails.

Rights of the data subjects

In compliance with art. 7 of Legislative Decree 196/2003, the data subjects are entitled to obtain, at any time, the confirmation of the existence of personal data, their content and origin, to check their accuracy or to request updates thereof or additions and changes thereto.

The data subjects are also entitled to request and obtain the erasure, anonymisation or blocking of the data that have been processed unlawfully, and to object to their processing on legitimate grounds.
